CHAPTER Chapter 9. The Monitoring Visit		SUBJECT Meal Service Compliance

The menus for both infants and children will be reviewed to determine if the children are receiving the proper components and creditable foods. If the proper components are not served, meals may be disallowed.

If food expenditures for the month do not support the menu, meals may be disallowed.

Food purchase receipts and menus may be reviewed to determine if the appropriate quantities of all food items are being purchased, prepared, and served to each child. If food purchased receipts do not support the menus and verify adequate quantities are purchased, meals will be disallowed from reimbursement. Purchasing and serving less than the required quantity will result in a disallowance of meals.

A meal service may be observed during the monitoring visit to observe preparation and service methods. During the meal service, it will also be determined if adequate quantities of food and milk are served to the children.

Meals may be disallowed if the meal is served before or after the approved meal times as listed on the web-based Applications Center Information Sheet.
